MOVIE NIGHT

"Their Only Power Was Moral A History of Injured Workers in Ontario"

Special guest: Lead researcher & McMaster Professor Robert Storey

A film showing the history of injured workers in Ontario, telling the important story of their struggles for justice from the early 1900s until present day. Using historical records from Royal Commissions, letters from injured workers to government and Workers' Compensation officials, archival photos and videos, the film highlights and analyzes key events in Ontario's compensation system and the important role injured workers have played.
